RULING ON ENTITLEMENT¹

On November 27, 2019, Lori Hoeffken filed a petition for compensation under the National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program, 42 U.S.C. §300aa-10, et seq.² (the “Vaccine Act”). Petitioner alleges that suffered a shoulder injury related to vaccine administration (SIRVA) after receiving an influenza (flu) vaccine on November 7, 2018. Petition at 1. The case was assigned to the Special Processing Unit of the Office of Special Masters.

On May 11, 2021, Respondent filed his Rule 4(c) report in which he concedes that Petitioner is entitled to compensation in this case. Respondent’s Rule 4(c) Report at 1. Respondent concluded that Petitioner’s claim meets the Table criteria for SIRVA. Id. at 5. Specifically, Respondent determined that petitioner had no history of pain, inflammation, or dysfunction of the affected shoulder prior to intramuscular vaccine administration that would explain the alleged signs, symptoms, examination findings, and/or diagnostic studies occurring after vaccine injection; she more likely than not suffered the onset of pain within forty-eight hours of vaccine administration; her pain and reduced range of motion were limited to the shoulder in which the intramuscular vaccine was administered; and there is not preponderant evidence of another condition or abnormality to explain her symptoms.” Id. Respondent further agrees that “the records show that the case was timely filed, that the vaccine was received in the United States, and that [P]etitioner satisfies the statutory severity requirement by suffering the residual effects or complications of her injury for more than six months after vaccine administration. Petitioner also avers that she has neither ‘received compensation in the form of an award or settlement for vaccine related injuries’ nor ‘filed a civil action for [her] vaccine related injuries.’” Id. (citations omitted).

In view of Respondent’s position and the evidence of record, I find that Petitioner is entitled to compensation.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
